

A black, square-shaped electronic device with four circular sensors at the corners is placed on a blue surface. Two rulers are positioned diagonally on either side of the device. An arrow points to a small white label on the device.